AMW Professional Services provide highly qualified and professional personnel to meet Defence, Government and Industry needs. Our goal is to be a reputable company capable of delivering acquisition and sustainment services across a range of domains, with our focused expertise in the area of complex, large scale government projects and programs.

AMW provides exceptional service throughout the project lifecycle, and our principal consultants have delivered numerous projects and programs from initiation to finalisation.

To do this we focus on people, not just numbers. As a small business we know our reputation is everything, so we ensure a flat structure which is extremely responsive to clients as well as our employees. We take care of people through effective and ethical relationships, so they can take care of business.
